

REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

Are there circumstances under which a physician is required by law to report a patient's condition, illness, injury or disease?

Yes. A physician is or may be required to make reports under certain circumstances concerning the following:

- Abortions. See ABORTION.
- AIDS, HIV, or STDs. See AIDS/HIV/STD.
- Animal Bites. See ANIMAL BITES.
- Assisted reproductions. See ASSISTED REPRODUCTION.
- Births. See BIRTH CERTIFICATES.
- Birth defects. See BIRTH DEFECTS.
- Child abuse. See CHILD ABUSE.
- Communicable diseases and outbreaks. See COMMUNICABLE DISEASES; and NOTIFIABLE CONDITIONS.
- Deaths. See DEATH CERTIFICATES.
- Vulnerable adult abuse. See VULNERABLE ADULT ABUSE.
- Gunshot wounds. See GUNSHOT WOUNDS.
- Pesticide poisonings. See PESTICIDE POISONING.
- Phenylketonuria. See NEWBORNS: TESTING AND REPORTING.
- Tuberculosis. See TUBERCULOSIS.
- Other notifiable conditions. See NOTIFIABLE CONDITIONS.

Are there circumstances when a physician must report another physician's unprofessional conduct?

Yes. See MEDICAL DISCIPLINE.

Must a physician self-report any information to the Medical Quality Assurance Commission?

Yes. See MEDICAL DISCIPLINE.

Must a physician report the theft or loss of controlled substances?

Yes. See CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES.